C.G. Jung believed that the human psyche has an inherently spiritual function; thus growth and healing cannot occur unless we regain a religious outlook. In this Monday night series we will explore some of the contributions Jungian Psychology has made to the understanding of the human person and how this can assist in the spiritual direction process.

We will explore the following:

- Movements of the soul: Spiritual growth and the individuation process
- What the shadow reveals and the invitation it brings to integrate its contents
- What dreams reveal and the practice of active imagination
- The process of transformation and conversion in our lives

Janice Bachman, O.P., a Dominican Sister of Peace, is an experienced spiritual director, retreat director and Jungian Analyst. Janice has been involved in the training of spiritual directors for the past 12 years. A graduate of Creighton University's (Omaha) Christian Spirituality Program, Janice is on the summer faculty of Creighton's Graduate Program in Christian Spirituality as well as a faculty for Wellstreams.

Reiki is an energy balancing technique for pain relief, relaxation, and healing through a gentle laying-on of hands. It is an avenue for expressing and receiving compassion and creating a deeper sense of connection to God. As interest in reiki grows, many Christians have questions about the legitimacy of this healing ministry. We will look at what Reiki is, how it is practiced and received, and what Christian teaching has to tell us about healing practices.

Facilitator Donita Harris is a Reiki Master, Spiritual Director, and Christian Lay Minister in the United Methodist Church.

10TH ANNUAL ARTI GRAS! A CELEBRATION OF ART AND SPIRIT

In the Gospels, Jesus tells robust stories filled with earthy images of soil and seeds, fig trees, wineskins, salt, sheep, and stones. He was a man fully in touch with his senses and who understood the gifts of our senses as a doorway to a deeper encounter with God

Art and aesthetic experience is about cultivating our senses so that we might become more in touch with the sacred dimension of the world around us.

"I'm not creative." "I can't do art." Have you ever said that?

Art and creativity can be intimidating to so many of us who worry that we don't have the proper skills or our creations won't be "perfect." Ten years ago, we launched a journey of creativity and spirituality to help people recognize that as human beings they are inherently creative and to give them an opportunity for hands-on exploration of creativity.

Here is a sampling of comments from participants who discovered their creativity:

"So often we forget to remain children regardless of how old we get—[Arti Gras] helped me do that."

"Thank you for this—the whole day has motivated and inspired me."

"Apprehension at first—Very Fun—Found my artistic self! Thanks!"

"You let us Shine!"

"This has given me inspiration to go home and start writing again."

"I loved the encouragement to just trust—not to worry if I didn't have immediate inspiration—and that made it possible for me to be inspired!"

"Didn't know I was an artist and poet—Thank you!"

"Lots of wonderful materials and peaceful time for contemplation. Amazing to share intense creative time with others."

SPIRITUALITY NETWORK EVENTS

SACRED FEMININE

Our cultural heritage gives us images of The Divine that are overwhelmingly masculine. How do women recognize and claim that they, too, are created in God's likeness? Join us on the second Tuesday of each month as we gather for discussion, reflection, and exploration on a variety of topics that help us to connect to uniquely feminine aspects of The Divine. Our intention is to discover more balance, create more peace, and offer more hope to our world.

First Congregational Church, 444 East Broad St.
PLEASE RSVP: 614/228-8867 or spiritnetwk@hotmail.com. Donations accepted (suggested donation: $5).

HEALING AND TRANSFORMATION THROUGH MEMOIR

February 9, 2009, 2-4pm, facilitated by Amanda Stone Cushing. RSVP: 614/228-8867.

We will look at the genre of memoir in general and women's stories in particular, as a means to discovering the deeper meaning of our experiences. A short writing exercise will provide a springboard for discussion.

TOPICS AND PRESENTERS TO BE ANNOUNCED:

March 9, 2010

April 13, 2010

Join us again or for the first time as we explore creativity as a means to express our spirituality. Experienced facilitators will lead mini-workshops in a variety of artistic media including collage, clay, beads, paint, written word, movement and body prayer. Each workshop will invite participants to enter the creative process through reflection on some aspect of their spirituality. This engaging and interactive event is open to all* who wish to claim—or reclaim—their imaginative, creative selves. What better way to honor our Creator than to embrace our creativity?

*Children under the age of 16 are welcome if accompanied by an adult.

Summer has passed bringing the growing season that blessed us with its abundance of plants, flowers, vegetables and fruits of the earth to a close. Kicking through piles of fallen leaves on a lovely autumn day, I am reminded of abundance in a different way. The varieties, shapes, colors, and sizes of the leaves capture my attention and I marvel once again realizing this is only a small representation of the amazing abundance and diversity found in all of God's creation. All too soon, this same path I walk on will be blanketed with snow. A new way to experience abundance is held in the wonder of each snowflake individually formed in its own unique shape and then heaped by the millions to cover this piece of the earth. Over and over again, the God of Creation reminds me of abundance and her hand in every detail, if I take time to notice. It is a needed and welcomed reminder in the midst these tough economic times where too many in our world face a scarcity of basic necessities. It is a noticing that stirs my soul.

Celebrations in the midst of the winter season speak clearly to our sense of abundance, of gratitude and of giving as well. Thanksgiving is a time of gratefulness for the blessings and the riches of whatever harvests we have experienced in our own lives, of gratitude for all we have been given and for remembering that all is gift. Christmas, Hanukkah, and Kwanzaa each hold particular ways of enlightening us with reminders of God's abundant love, freely given and the presence of the Holy One in the midst of our ordinary lives. These days set apart help us to notice what we have been given and invite our spirits to a place of gratefulness. It is a place we can rest in and a place that calls us to share our God given riches of time, talent and treasure.

In this newsletter you will find a variety of opportunities the Spirituality Network offers to deepen awareness of the abundance given to us as Living Water. In the tasting we continue to be drawn into God's abundance. It is a Love that cannot be contained and begs to be witnessed through you and me.

My prayerful pondering invites me from great fullness to the challenge of living so that others experience abundance. Perhaps that resonates with you as well. I am confident as we live into our choices, we will birth a new springtime and abundant new life.

Blessings in abundance.

THE POWER OF FORGIVENESS / A LENTEN RETREAT

Saturday, March 13, 2010, 9:30am-3:30pm, registration 9:10am. Martin de Porres Center, St. Mary of the Springs. $50 before March 6, $60 after. Optional hot lunch $5.25.

Forgiveness is a process of healing that takes time and goes through many stages. We are all hurt as we journey through this life. Sometimes we are able to let go of the hurts, no matter how severe and at other times we hold on to them and let them blot out the joy and beauty of other life experiences. To continue carrying hurts is to choose to continue to hurt. In the long term, the one I harm most by not forgiving is myself. To hold on to a hurt or grudge saps my psychological and spiritual energy, paving the way for negativity, cynicism, passive aggressiveness, and spiritual boredom. Forgiveness is a gradual realization that I cannot control another.

This important topic of healing and forgiveness will be explored in a retreat format where prayer, input, time for reflection and dialogue will be experienced. Lent invites us to pause and take stock of where we are in our spiritual life. It is a wonderful time to ask God to "take away our stony hearts and give us hearts of flesh instead" (Ezek. 36:26), especially when we sense within ourselves an inclination to hold on to the hurt and pain. We need God's help in the process of forgiveness.

Facilitator: Sister Carol Ann Spencer, O.P. is a teacher, spiritual director and Coordinator of the Wellstreams Training Program for Spiritual Direction. She holds degrees in Theology, Pastoral Ministry and a Certificate in Spirituality from The Institute for Spiritual Leadership.

Taylor, Barbara Brown. An Altar in the World: A Geography of Faith. New York: HarperCollins, 2009.

In her previous book, Leaving Church, Barbara Brown Taylor wrote about the process of leaving "church," and her work as an Episcopal priest. In this book, An Altar in the World, she describes how one can find "church" outside a formal structure. The book's chapters focus on the following twelve practices: vision, reverence, incarnation, groundedness, wilderness, community, vocation, sabbath, physical labor, breakthrough, prayer, and benediction. In each chapter, she describes concrete ways that the sacred can be discovered in what might heretofore have been considered small or insignificant acts. A walk, for example, might assume more meaning after reading the chapter, "The Practice of Walking on the Earth" (groundedness), in which she describes freeing oneself from the purpose of reaching a particular destination and making "the decision to walk with some awareness, both of who you are and what you are doing" (p. 56). Taylor's unique perspective on the practices examined in the book should cause readers to be more mindful as they engage in daily living. This is a book that does not have to be read in chronological order and readers may wish to refer to particular practices time and time again.

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Patricia J. Gibboney, CFRE

In this season of Thanksgiving, we are thankful and grateful for all of you, for your ongoing support of The Spirituality Network's mission. We are constantly reminded of the positive impact that this organization has made in the lives of hundreds of people during the past 22 years. And, we always have something new and exciting to share.

By now you have probably received the invitation from the Board of Directors to help us match a challenge gift of $15,000 that was recently given to us by a donor. I am pleased to share with you that before those invitations were mailed, the board member participation towards this effort was 100%. How grateful I am to be able to work with such a committed and passionate board. We hope that you will prayerfully consider making a gift to help us meet this challenge.

In the upcoming weeks, look for a postcard mailing asking for your input regarding how you would like to receive future newsletters. We are exploring ways to be cost efficient in this tight economy, and printing and postage continue to be one of our most expensive budget items. Some people prefer communication electronically and others prefer receiving the hard copy. We will respect your wishes but we need to know what they are. Please help us by responding with your preference. We appreciate your feedback.

We encourage everyone to check out the website www.spiritualitynetwork.org

It is constantly being updated with news and program opportunities. Be looking for an opportunity to purchase three handmade quilts with a Christmas theme, as well as a handmade rug. All items have been made by artist friends to benefit The Spirituality Network.

Thank you for walking this journey with us. We are most grateful.

BREAD

I watched the dawn;
The wintry sunrise warmed me
and the rail outside my window;
I sat in silent hope.

My vigil satisfied at last:
biscotti bits were snatched by cardinals, and a jay.

I think that God waits also so:
in breathless, quiet hope that we will surely pick Her way.

to organize Jungian Theory that is easier to understand and an even more powerful tool for understanding human personality.
